

Arnstein Out On Bail, then Locked Up by U. S. Order

Fugitive Motors to Prosecutor's Office With

Refuses to Talk
In Federal Case

Surrendered by Agreement; Was in Pittsburgh and Cleveland;
$75,000 Bond Is Given

At last the New York police know where to look for Nicky Arnstein. He was locked up in the Ludlow Street jail last night in default of $75,000 bail to insure his appearance in the Federal bankruptcy court, which the police have nothing to do with.

Before United States Judge Knox William Fallon, his attorney, pleaded that Arnstein be released in his custody, recalling that the defendant was under $75,000 bail to appear in the state courts. He pleaded on his own personal honor to produce Arnstein any time he was wanted, but Saul Myers arose and demanded that high bail be fixed, because, he said, the conduct of Arnstein's case had been a public scandal, and that Fallon's partner, McGee, had gone on the stand before the bankruptcy court and testified that he was drunk. The court took no notice of this charge, but nevertheless refused Mr. Fallon's plea and fixed Arnstein's bail at $75,000. He made the price of freedom of Arnstein $100,000.

Arnstein bows to police. Sought for three months by the police of three continents as the alleged director of a band of super-thieves, who with the connivance of bank and brokerage managers had stolen from $1,500,000 to $5,000,000 in bonds and other securities, surrendered himself yesterday morning at the Criminal Courts Building.

On his way there from a rendezvous at Columbus Avenue and Ninetieth Street he rode in a big green automobile with his wife, Fannie Brice, Zieglar, and a newspaper reporter. The automobile belonged to his wife and every traffic policeman in New York City was supposed to have earned the license number by heart. Yet Nicky rode gaily down Fifth Avenue, rising and bowing at times to the blue coats gathering there for their annual parade. When he finally did reach the detective bureau of the District Attorney's office he displayed petulance because he was compelled to wait while his lawyer hunted up some one with authority to arrest him prior to the adjustment of the question of bail.

If Fannie Brice's make-up was a bit thick and smoky when she appeared in court, when she finally did reach the detective bureau of the District Attorney's office he displayed petulance because he was compelled to wait while his lawyer hunted up some one with authority to arrest him prior to the adjustment of the question of bail.

Nicky's appearance at the Criminal Courts Building apparently was entirely unexpected. There have been many false reports that he was about to surrender, so the latest rumors evidently had been disregarded.

Every body was jovial. Reporters appeared as if by magic. Detectives came into the room in breathless haste, having pounded up the stairs on the theory that the elevators were too slow, but failed their rush in the doorway of the room where Nicky stood and endeavored to escape to the third floor in Benny's elevator.

Cameras Click at Prisoner

Camera men posed the fugitive and his wife sitting down and standing up and in every other pose to which they could be put. The building was filled with the damage inflicted by a sleepless night.

Arnstein answered a few of the many questions propounded to him. He said he had been in Pittsburgh and Cleveland, but in none of the other places where he has been variously reported to be. He said he was in New York last night, the time, he said, he was in a suburb of Pittsburgh and endeavored to escape to the third floor in Benny's elevator.

He said he had motored into New York yesterday morning in a hired machine, sent a message to his wife to meet him at Columbus Avenue and Ninetieth Street and then, after walking to this intersection, had driven driven to the Criminal Courts Building. He also said he was entirely innocent of wrongdoing.

Mr. Fallon expressed a desire to see John T. Dooling, Assistant District Attorney, but was told by Mr. Dooling that he was in the building. Mr. Fallon then greeted Detective William Mayer, who has toured the Middle West pretty thoroughly in search of the so-called master mind.

"Hello, Gus," said Nicky, and extended his hand.

"I'm sincerely glad to see you, Gus," said Dooling, with the accent and manner of a winning ticket player, "and I hope you will bring me some good news."

Ex-Kaiser Moves to Doorn; No One Cheers His Departure

Hohenzollerns Slip Away From One Entrance to Castle While Photographers Wait at Another;
Empress Given Armful of Flowers

DOORN, Holland, May 15 (By The Associated Press).—Former Emperor William arrived here from Amerongen at 10:35 o'clock this morning. He outwitted several journalists and motion picture photographers, who were waiting at one entrance of the ex-king's new home while the automobile in which he arrived slipped through another.

AMERONGEN, May 15 (By The Associated Press).—A feeling of relief went through the small number of spectators as the former German Emperor's limousine came swiftly down the broad drive which connects the Von Bentinck castle with the main road.

Bandit Caught In Police Race With Subway

B. R. T. Collector Attacked on "L" Platform, but Saves Company Funds
After a Desperate Fight

James Molyvate, of 1642 Eighty-first Street, Brooklyn, a collector on the Brooklyn Rapid Transit lines, was attacked by two holdup men last night as he was transferring the day's receipts of $200 from the station of the Bay Ridge elevated line at Forty-sixth Street and Third Avenue to his car.

He was crossing the station platform to the money car when two men leaped at him from behind. One struck him on the head. The other grabbed for the bag containing the money. Although staggered by the blow on the head, Molyvate struggled toward the car, fighting his assailants.

As he crossed the money car one of the robbers aimed a blow at him which missed, and his fist drove through a window of the car, inflicting a severe cut on his wrist.

As the collector and cuter of Molyvate had given the alarm. The station agent was at the telephone calling the police. Herbert Cherrier, of 636 Fortieth Street, who was carrying a money car, was bearing down on the fighting trio, controller poised for a blow. The sound of steps came from the stairs of the station.

Frantically the hunters gave up their attempt and fled. As they ran down the station stairs they upset a woman carrying a baby. It was the woman's footstep that had contributed to their panic.

Molyvate and Cherrier gave chase. The pursued fled toward the subway station at Fourth Avenue and Forty-fifth Street. This was noted by the station agent, who was telephoning the police of the Fourth Avenue station. Details of the chase were relayed to a policeman at the other end of the wire.

Det. Ward, and MacGowan reached the subway station just as the fugitive with the cut wrist leaped aboard a train. The doors closed behind him. His companion, who was carrying a money car, was bearing down on the fighting trio, controller poised for a blow. The sound of steps came from the stairs of the station.

Plea to Free Debs At White House

Socialist Party's Petition for Leader's Release
Is Given to Tumulty

WASHINGTON, May 15.—The Socialist party's petition for the release of its Presidential nominee, Eugene V. Debs, and other political prisoners, was taken to the White House yesterday by the special committee named by the recent Socialist convention in New York.

Accompanied by more than 100 of the delegates to the convention, the committee formally presented the petition to Secretary Tumulty, who said he would call it to the attention of President Wilson. It was laid before Attorney General Palmer yesterday and will be presented to Secretary Baker at the War Department Monday.

Seymour Stedman, the party's Vice-President, candidate, headed the delegation and made a special plea to Secretary Tumulty for a pardon for Mr. Debs, who, he said, had been convicted on faulty evidence and had been unfairly represented to the people by newspapers throughout the country.

An argument on behalf of Kate Richards O'Hare, serving a sentence at the Jefferson City Penitentiary on conviction of having violated the Espionage act, was made by George E. Roemer, of Boston, another member of the committee.

Railroads Ask I. C. C. to End Freight Tieup

Suggest Drastic Steps, Including Curtailment of Passenger Service if Necessary in Extreme Cases

The open car passed through rapidly and made its way to the new home of the ex-king at Doorn.

Immediately behind the driver sat General Vonderberg and Countess von Keller, the staunch friend of the former Emperor, holding an armload of pink carnations and tulips. The former Emperor and Empress occupied back seats, Count Hohenzollern proudly erect and apparently glad at the prospect of finally finding rest in his own home after being forced to remain the guest of the Von Bentinck family a year and a half.

As the party passed there were no cheers and no signs either of disapproval or sympathy on the part of the inhabitants, who have learned to regard the former monarch simply as an additional source of income.

WASHINGTON, May 15 (By The Associated Press).—"Emergency action similar to that taken when this country entered the war," was asked of the government to-day to help dig the railroads out from under the worst freight congestion since 1917.

A joint appeal to the Interstate Commerce Commission by the association of railway executives and the American Railroad Association declared the freight jam to be such as to warrant and require immediate use of that body's broad powers under the transportation act in checking a menace which had assumed threatening proportions.

Common use of equipment and embargoes, priorities and diversions of shipments were urged by the railroads as means which the commission could employ to remedy the situation. The roads also asked that they be allowed to curtail passenger service where necessary, but indicated this would be done only in extreme cases.

Would Suspend Certain Laws

While the present conditions continue, the appeal said, carriers should be relieved from operations of state and Federal laws which hinder them in meeting the demands upon them.

The commission was requested also to set aside its regular policy of holding formal hearings, to issue no formal orders, and to accept the carriers' proposals. All of this should be done as a means of expediting the effective dates of orders given by the commission, it was explained.

The railroad officials represented to the commission that there was no immediate hope of obtaining ample equipment and that the volume of commodities being offered for shipment was permitted no time for proper repairs. The labor situation has augmented the difficulties and does not promise immediate improvement, they said.

An unauthorized strike of switchmen, the petition stated, had contributed to the "growing public distress on account of delay in the movement of freight."

There was no indication to-night as to the commission's course. Its full powers under the transportation act have not been employed as yet. Officially it is expected that the commission will have a meeting to-morrow, but it hinted they did not know where this might lead. Study of the traffic tie-up has been going on for two weeks, but it was decided that the commission might not have been fully aware of the gravity of the situation until the petition of the rail heads was laid before them.

Broad Powers Conferred

The railroad men said the congestion had reached a point where the public interest requires prompt use of the commission's new powers. These conferred in the transportation act, permit any further delay in the movement of freight to be a national emergency.

"That necessary food, fuel and other vital commodities directly affecting the cost of living and the life and comfort of the people may be given preference and priority in movement," the letter outlined the matter. The letter followed:

"Notice is hereby given to you as sureties upon the bond of Philip Berolzheimer, Chamberlain of the City of New York, under date of May 5, 1920, and also copy of a letter addressed to each of the sureties upon his bond May 15, 1920, and I hereby request that you take the appropriate action to enforce the liability of the said Berolzheimer and his sureties for the loss suffered by the City of New York by reason of his default and neglect."

"That to the extent the commission may find necessary and may authorize, the carriers may be relieved from the operation of Federal and state laws and orders recognized as ordinarily operative during normal transportation conditions and governing the service of the carriers in the usual and ordinary conduct of their public service, so that in adopting and carrying out the orders issued by the commission during the present emergency the carriers may be protected against penalties and commensurate with the emergency."

"By a letter dated May 5, 1920, I directed the attention of the said Berolzheimer to the fact that Goldfarb had been twenty-four years in the country for applying for his first papers and had been convicted of conspiring to aid his son to escape the draft."

"You were convicted," he said, "of trying to keep your son out of the army that some other mother's son might go to France and fight in his place. It has been shown that you went out of the state to aid the scheme. Under our law, even a native born convicted of your offense would lose his citizenship."

Industries Closing In Freight Tie-Up

2,500 Persons Idle and 300,000 May Be Unemployed if Relief Fails

There has been no appreciable diminution in the traffic congestion at the main railroad terminals in the East within the last twenty-four hours, according to transportation experts here. The gradual curtailment of industry resulting from the inability of manufacturers to get raw materials or market their products continues, with no relief in sight.

From Chicago comes the report that that city faces a complete tie-up within sixty days if radical steps are not taken to relieve the growing congestion.

Knox Peace Resolution Is Adopted in Senate By a Vote of 43 to 38

Sultan to Resign as Treaty Protest;
Aims to Arouse Moslems, Says Rumor

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 14 (By The Associated Press).—The Turkish Sultan will resign his throne in protest against the severity of the peace treaty presented to Turkey by the Allied powers, and failure to secure modification of the terms, according to a rumor to-day.

The rumor has it that the Sultan's resignation, leaving the Caliph vacant, will be for the purpose of arousing the entire Moslem world. The report asserts that Damad Herid Raska and his government also will resign.

Great consternation was caused in official circles by the treaty terms, especially the surrender of sovereignty for Smyrna and Thrace. All other questions appear to be overshadowed in the Turkish mind by the concessions to be made to Greece.

BOMBAY, India, May 14.—Resolutions to adopt a policy of non-cooperation with the Indian Government because of the terms of settlement proposed to Turkey have been adopted by a special meeting here of the All-India Caliphate Committee. A sub-committee to organize the non-cooperative movement was formed.

Allies to Agree On Fixed Sum As German Debt

Reed, Shields and Walsh, Democrats, Support the Measure; Nelson Only Republican Voting No

Issue Now to Go Back Into House

WASHINGTON, May 15.—The Senate late to-day, by a vote of 43 to 38, passed the Knox resolution repealing the declarations of war with Germany and Austria, and providing for a resumption of commercial and diplomatic relations between the United States and those countries.

The measure now goes to the House of Representatives before it is sent to President Wilson, who is expected to veto it.

Shows No One Man Can Run This Republic," Says Harding in Debate

From The Tribune's Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, May 15.—The Senate late to-day, by a vote of 43 to 38, passed the Knox resolution repealing the declarations of war with Germany and Austria, and providing for a resumption of commercial and diplomatic relations between the United States and those countries.

House Victory Predicted

The resolution will be placed before the House early next week, Republican leaders expressed confidence that the House will pass it, and that the group of twenty-two Democrats who voted for the original peace resolution that was passed by the House on April 9 will join with the Republicans in approving the re-written resolution adopted by the Senate.

Roll Call on Resolution

The roll call on adoption of the resolution follows:

For adoption:

- | REPUBLICANS | DEMOCRATS |
|-----------------|-----------|
| Ball | Koyes |
| Borah | Leahy |
| Brandegee | McClure |
| Cahoon | Mitchell |
| Capper | Moore |
| Coffey | Nelson |
| Cull | Quinn |
| Dillingham | Shaw |
| Elkins | Simmons |
| Fairbank | Smith |
| Fletcher | Stanley |
| France | Swanson |
| Graham | Tamm |
| Hatch | Thompson |
| Harding (Chair) | Townsend |
| Johnson | Wadsworth |
| Kendrick | Wheeler |
| Kent | Wright |

Production Is Retarded

The inevitable interruption of the development of peace-time industries through the curtailment of the effort to produce war materials, is pointed out here, will tend indefinitely to postpone the execution of plans for the resumption of importations and exportations on a large scale.
